SEVEN GORED SKIRT.

Pattern No. 5505.—This skirt is one of the newest among the many skirts shown, and is to be recommended for its excellent shaping. The model is out with seven gores, and is smoothly adjusted over the hips, the lower part hanging in soft, graceful folds. The back may be made with an inverted box pleat or in habit style and the pattern provides for either round or inset length. The design is suitable for silk, cloth, woolen goods and the heavier washable fabrics. The medium size will require five and one-eighth yards of 44-inch material. Sizes for 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure.

This pattern will be sent to you on receipt of 10 cents. Address all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give size and number of pattern wanted. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

CIRCULAR DRESSING SACQUE.

Pattern No. 5171.—A dainty simplicity is shown in the dressing sacque of negligee here pictured, with the sleeve and sacque all in one piece. The making is a very simple matter and quickly accomplished. Just a short underarm seam and a seam in the back. If desired, the sleeve may be tied together with ribbons. Several materials suggest themselves for the making, such as lawn, dimity, silk or challis, with trimming band of contrasting color. If a more elaborate garment is desired, ruffles of lace could be used around the neck and down the front. The medium size requires three yards of 36-inch material. Sizes for small, medium and large.

This pattern will be sent to you on receipt of 10 cents. Address all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give size and number of pattern wanted. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

Ghosts and Balls of Fire.
Middletown, N. Y.—Residents of Shavertown, in Delaware county, are greatly excited over a haunted house in which ghosts and balls of fire are said to have been seen. The house is a two-story structure, and has been occupied by the late Levi D. Shaver. Several parties have started out at night to enter the house and defy the ghosts, but have been scared away by the noises and the balls of fire.

"Corpse" Able to Walk.

Stillwater, O.—The body of a man, supposedly dead, was found in a field along the railroad tracks here the other day. The coroner and a party went out to investigate. They lifted the man into a wagon and started for Stillwater. Farmers came from all around. One of them asked: "Is he dead?" "Quite dead," answered the coroner, who was sitting on the tailboard of the wagon. The next instant he was sprawling on the ground. "You're a liar!" shouted the "corpse," who had knocked the coroner off the wagon. The crowd made a rush for him, but he escaped. In his wake he left a well-defined odor, which explained all.

KILL MOOSE FOR PICTURES

New Brunswick Guides Bewail the Desecration of Canaan Woods.

Canaan woods have been desecrated, the guides and residents of the province believe. They have been opposed to the invasion of hunters, but when a moving picture machine was brought into the sacred preserves of the woods they felt that all bounds had been passed.

The Canaan woods, a vast tract in the heart of New Brunswick, probably contains more moose than any other tract of the same extent in the world. Some weeks ago a party came here from Boston in a private car and there was much speculation concerning the uses of a queer looking machine that formed part of the outfit. Dr. Heber Bishop, a railroad man, of Boston, who has visited the Canaan woods regularly for several seasons, was the leader of the party, and with him were R. E. Follett, head of the New England Fish and Game association; C. Everett Johnson, F. T. Marlon, artist, and G. W. Bitzer, of New York, and Harrie B. Coe, of Boston.

"Must be one of them Gatling guns," said Charley Coates, viewing a strange piece of apparatus. Charley's opinion was accepted and loud murmurs of protest arose, until it was explained that the strange thing was a moving-picture machine. The party proceeded to Jim Ryder's camp, far back in the woods on one of the lakes.

Mr. Follett and Mr. Johnson spent one night in a crow's nest calling moose. About daybreak one of the guides hurried into the camp with the news that moose were answering their calls. The picture machine was hurried out to the crows' nest, but Johnson and Follett had already killed a 1,200-pound bull, measuring 54 inches across the antlers. They went through the motions of killing the huge animal again for the benefit of the picture machine.

Dr. Bishop had even better luck; he was paddling in a birch bark canoe with two guides when a moose came swimming toward the craft around a point. The picture machine happened to be set up on shore, and an excellent picture of Dr. Bishop killing the animal was taken. This was his twenty-eighth moose. A mile of film was exposed, making between 40,000 and 50,000 single pictures.

QUEER PARISIAN RESORT.

Restaurant Where the "Arboreal" Tendency of Man Is Catered To.

A shrewd but unscientific person once complained that Darwin had omitted from his "Descent of Man" one of the principal facts which would support his theory of an "arboreal ancestor," and that was the inherent propensity of mankind to climb trees, says the New York Tribune.

Whether this proclivity shows descent from some simian ancestor who "nightly climbed his family tree, and on the top reposed," one may leave Darwinians and anti-Darwinians to decide, but the fact that "Robinson," the extraordinary Paris suburb of dwellings and restaurants in trees, has existed for over half a century, and still flourishes, may be taken as proof that the mania for tree climbing endures.

"Robinson" was discovered in the year 1848 by a man named Guesquin. It was then a wild and unfrequented spot, seven miles south of Paris, and a mile or two from the pretty little villages of Sceaux and Fontenay-aux-Roses. A lane ran along the side of a hill a little below the summit, and was bordered by a huge elm and chestnut tree—an odd corner of the great forest which once encircled Paris for many miles.

He bought some land there entirely for his own benefit, and not for that of his race guests, called teams to the largest limbs of the stateliest tree on his tiny estate, some 30 feet above the ground, and on these erected a summer house reached by a wooden stair, where he could sit of an evening to smoke his pipe and enjoy the lovely view of the Seine valley.

Being hardly more than a couple of hours' walk from the great University of the Sorbonne, it chanced that a student who was taking a walk one Sunday afternoon found out the spot, was pleased with it, and came again, bringing some of his comrades. They in turn told others, and in a few weeks Guesquin's aerial restaurant became a favorite resort of the collegians.

Pulque Brandy.

Pulque brandy is described as a diabolical concoction from a species of cactus that if left on a desert island by itself would raise a riot. Fortunately for civilization, this fiery potion has not become an article of commerce, but is distilled and drunk by low-grade Mexican half-breeds and renegade whites of old Mexico, who can lay claim to a useful place in nature only by exterminating each other.—Portland Oregonian.

Salt Beef Barred.

Indicative of the radical changes that are being made in the British navy is this recent statement by the admiralty: "No more contracts for supply of salt beef have been entered into, as it has been decided to abolish this article of diet." Cold storage takes the place of the beef barrel.

Touched Him.

"Did that magnetic healer do you good?"
"Yes, he did me good and plenty; merely touched me, and made me give an five dollars."—Houston Post.

The Backbone of a Mighty Nation is good food—food for brain, food for brawn, food that is strengthening, that gives energy and courage. Without a proper appreciation of this great fundamental truth no nation can rise to greatness.

As an article of food, soda crackers are being used more and more every day, as is attested by the sale of nearly 400,000,000 packages of Uneeda Biscuit, which have come to be recognized as the most perfect soda cracker the world has ever known.

And so Uneeda Biscuit will soon be on every table at every meal, giving life, health and strength to the American people, thus in very truth becoming the backbone of the nation.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

Constant Thirst and Headache

Creeping sensation, bone-racking pains, a feeling of weight about the short ribs, depression, with creeping pains in the stomach, indicate that malaria has got you again. Then you should remember Dr. Armistead's Improved Ague Tonic the old reliable cure for chills and fever.

DR. R. A. ARMISTEAD'S (Improved) AGUE TONIC

if taken as directed will positively cure any case of ague or chills. While destroying the malarial poison it fortifies and strengthens the entire system, tones up the nerves, enriches the blood, stimulates the circulation. There is positively no substitute for Dr. Armistead's Improved Ague Tonic. A sure preventative if taken in time.

This old favorite prescription contains no poisonous drugs, and may be given freely and in large doses if required. Sold by all leading druggists.

The Fraternal Order of Colonials.

A Fraternal Beneficiary Society Organized Under the Laws of the State of Missouri.

Reserve Fund Created From Inception of the Order.

Objects of the Order.

The purpose of this organization is to unite in a fraternal body all white male persons of good moral character, between the ages of 18 and 50 years, who can pass the necessary medical examination, and who are not engaged in hazardous occupations.

Government.

The members of the Order are united into Local Assemblies, and are governed by a Supreme Assembly of 26 members elected by all the members of the Order every four years. The laws enacted by the Supreme Assembly are applied by the Supreme Executive Committee consisting of the six Supreme Officers of the Order, and by a Supreme Auditing Committee of three representative business men.

Plan of Operation.

The amount of money the beneficiaries of a member receive at his death depends upon the period of membership. If death occurs during the first year of membership the Order pays $200 on each $1000 named in the beneficiary certificate; if death occurs during the second year the payment is $400 on each $1000; if death occurs during the third year the payment is $600 on each $1000; if death occurs during the fourth year the payment is $800 on each $1000; but if death does not occur until the fifth or later year of membership, the Order pays, not only the full face of the certificate, but in addition thereon all assessments paid thereon, less $150 for each $1000 named in the certificate.

Application of Assessments.

Out of every monthly assessment paid by each member, one per cent. thereof is applied to maintaining the Order and paying death losses. The full and prompt payment of every death claim is guaranteed by the Reserve Fund of the Order. The Reserve Fund is increased, first, by 32½ per cent. of each and every assessment paid by every member; second, by all deductions from the certificates of members whose deaths occur after more than four full years of membership. The double stream of revenue flowing into this fund creates a percentage of Reserve not surpassed by any Fraternal Order in existence.

Ritual.

It is the aim of the Order to afford its members an equitable, business-like, and economical plan of protection, founded upon the past experience of the life insurance world. But it is at the same time a social organization. It has a beautiful Ritualistic work that is pleasing and instructive.

Expense.

The membership fee is $5.00. This includes the cost of medical examination. Benefit Certificates are issued for $1000 or $2000 as each member for himself may elect. The assessment is 75 cents per month on each $1000. Each Local Assembly fixes a small monthly payment for local dues to meet such expense as it may incur. The payments each month are the same, and all members pay alike. Assessments are not graded according to the ages of the members, but the money paid out at the death of each member is equalized according to his period of membership.
